

[surrounding space is for further explanation of your
visuals/website prototype/interactions/transitions]

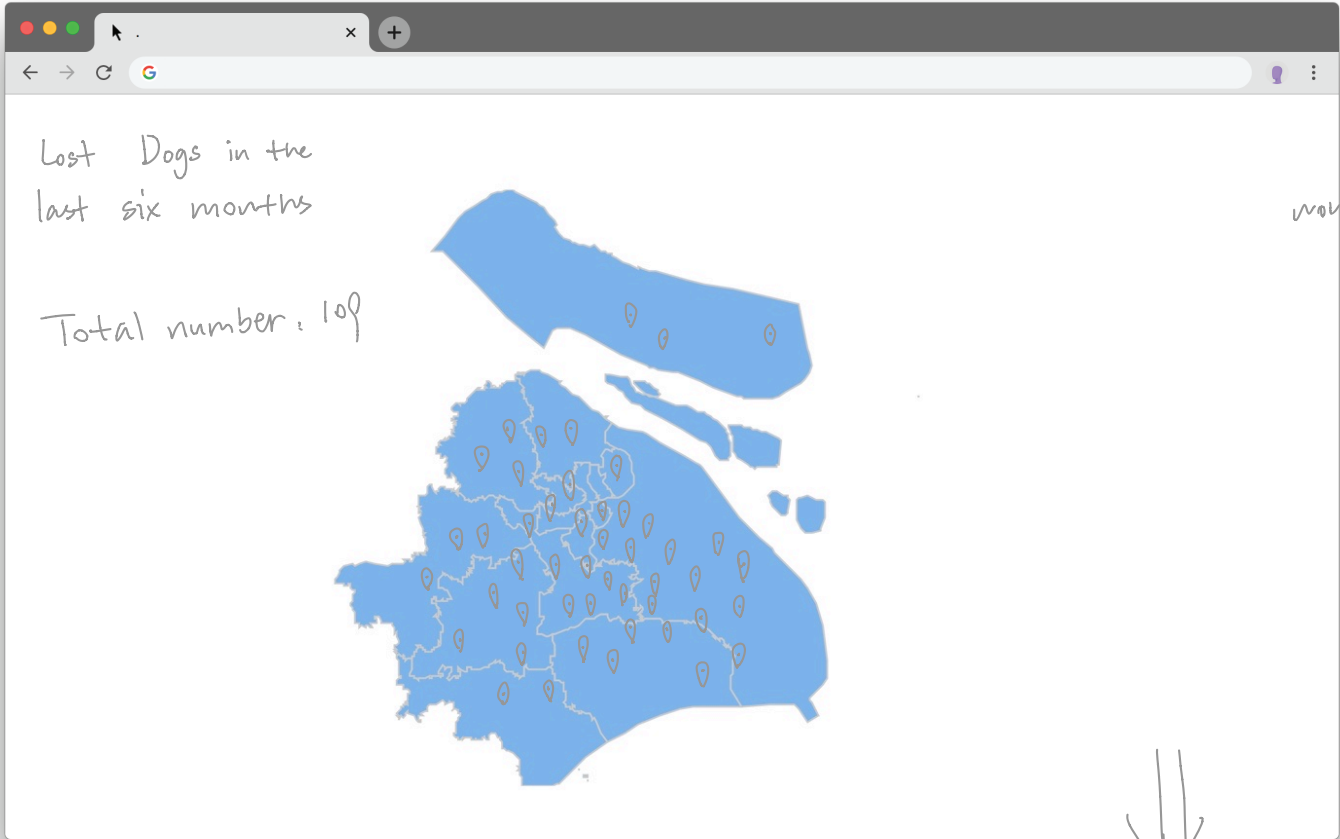

Click each circle, and a map with the locations of the lost items would be shown

[surrounding space is for further explanation of your visuals/website prototype/interactions/transitions]

(I'm still thinking about how to show these stories behind some lost items).

Click the icons on the main page, a map with all the locations of that type of items through the past half year would show up.

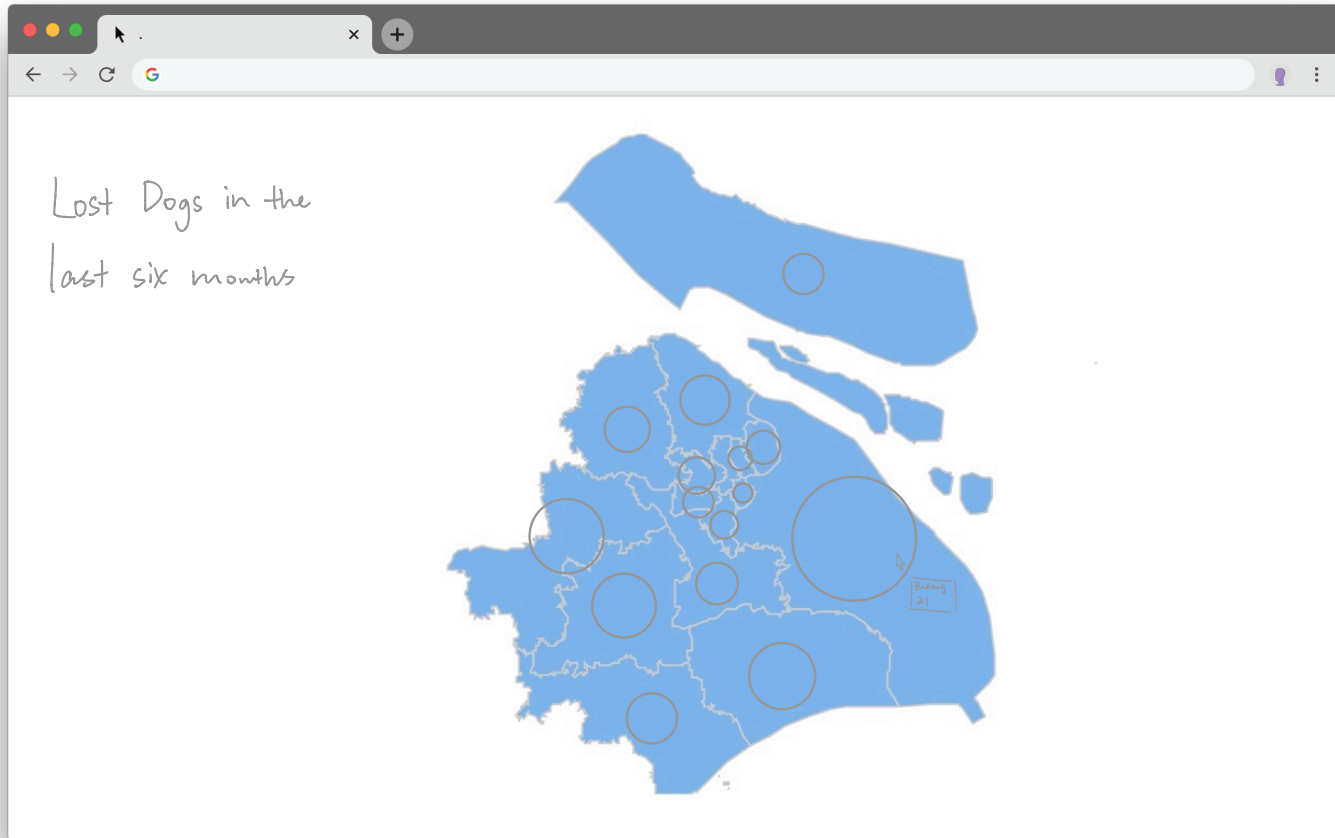

[surrounding space is for further explanation of your visuals/website prototype/interactions/transitions]

Scroll Down

The map will NOT change. Only
the icons on the map firstly disappear, and
then appear
the new icons (the circles)

Hopefully, I can utilize the Street View map. By clicking each icon on the map, the street view of that place can show up.

If street view map would be beyond capability, I can use normal map instead.

